Dear Emma,

I feel really sad because my friends didn't invite me to their Easter picnic. I have just seen the pictures on social media and they all look so happy together. I don't understand why they didn't ask me to come. Maybe they don't like me anymore or they don't think I'm sociable enough to spend time with them. I don't feel like being on my own for the rest of the holiday. I keep thinking about it and it makes me feel worse.

What should I do?

Frank

Frank,

I understand how you feel and I know it's really upsetting when friends don't include us in their plans. But don't assume the worst too quickly! Maybe they just forgot to invite you or they thought you had already planned spending time with your family. The best thing you can do is to talk to them honestly and ask if you can join next time. In the meantime, don't let this ruin your holiday! You can still have fun - maybe spend time with your family, watch a good movie or do something creative like decorating Easter eggs or baking cookies. Remember, one event doesn't define your friendship. Stay positive!

ZADANIE 10

We were at my grandparents' house in the countryside. We always choose this place because it is peaceful and perfect for family gatherings. The beautiful garden is also great for our Easter egg hunt! The day started with a big festive breakfast, where we shared a blessed egg and ate traditional dishes like sausages and delicious cakes. Later, we decorated Easter eggs and in the evening, we enjoyed a special dinner together. I felt really happy and grateful because I could spend time with the people I love. It was really moving to see them delighted and amused. It was a truly special celebration! How was your Easter?

Take care,
XYZ
